Cohort Model Option:

- Students enroll in five classes each semester – four will take place in-person at the Meadowlands on weekends; the fifth will take place online over the length of a 12 or 15-week semester. One summer online course will be needed.
- Each in-person class meets six times (three Saturdays and three Sundays from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.) during four consecutive three-week periods.
- Classes include online learning elements, making the courses a "hybrid" of both face-to-face and online modalities.
- Students receive a one-week break between the four in-person classes.
- The cohort model allows students to take classes alongside the same peers in every class, fostering cohesion.
- Dedicated advisers for academic support and guidance.
